Two Bands and Drum Corps to Provide Music For Long Procession

Circleville's Armistice day parade, scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. from Memorial Hall, promises to be one of the largest parades here in many years.

All patriotic and fraternal organizations will take part. In addition one section of the parade will be for Halloween celebrators. Both high school bands and the Legion drum corps will furnish music.

All pupils of the Circleville city schools stood silently at 11 a. m. for one minute Wednesday in observance of the signing of the Armistice.

Aerial bombs will be fired during the celebration. After the parade a dance will be held in Memorial Hall.

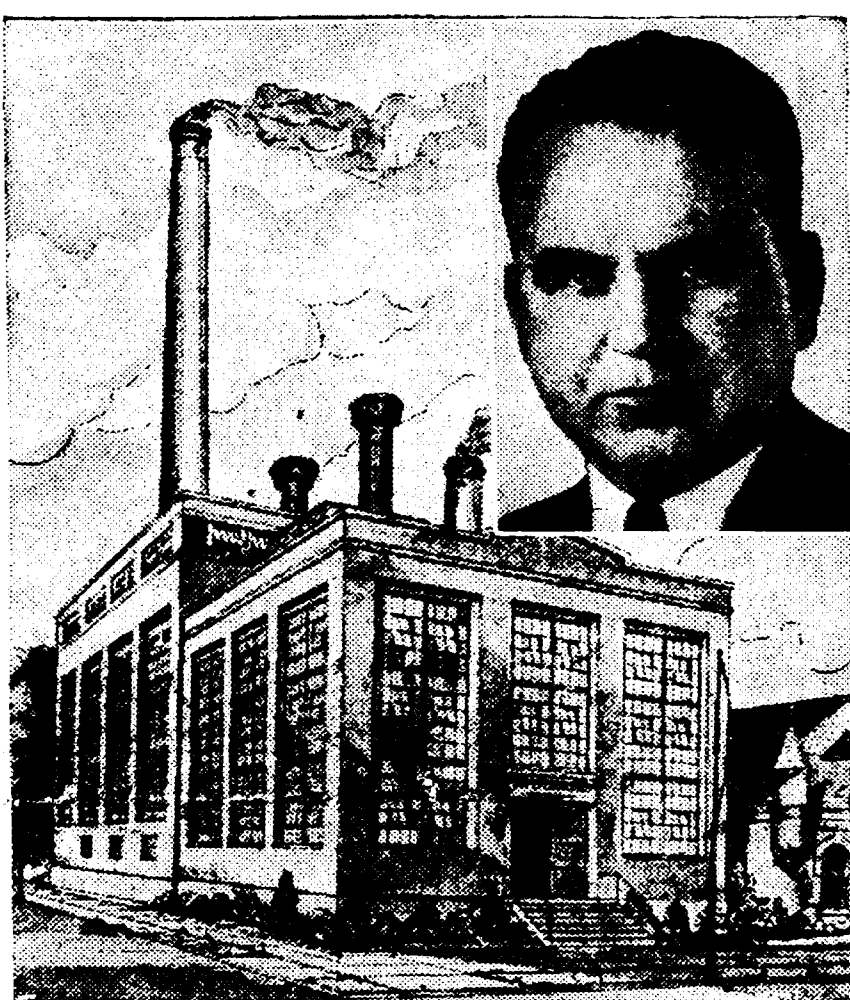

Those taking part in the parade are requested to be at Memorial Hall at 7 p. m. The parade will form at Main and Pickaway streets. There will be three sections, the first for ex-service men and auxiliaries, the second for Pumpkin Show floats and members of fraternal organizations, and the third for the Halloween division. Judging in the Halloween section will be held on the courthouse steps.

Bedlam Followed News

Official notice of the signing of the Armistice 18 years ago was received in Circleville about 7 a. m., and created one of the noisiest celebrations this city has ever experienced.

Whistles and bells carried the good news over the countryside and hundreds flocked to town to obtain information. The message had been anxiously awaited after a premature celebration had been MUNY PLANT EARNS TOO MUCH! One Month's Light Given Free!

THERE'S a surplus of $250,000 in Martins Ferry, Ohio, representing profits of the municipal power plant, thus all patrons are receiving a "dividend" of a month's free electricity. The "dividend" was announced by Mayor Lee Woods who had appointed a committee to see what could be done in regard to the bulging treasury. The "dividend" was decided on since light rates already are at rock bottom and because no plant addition is necessary. A sketch of the light plant and Mayor Woods are shown above.

Failure to Collect Sales Tax Costs Seller $25

Failure to collect sales tax on a 15-cent sale of chicken feed cost J. M. Kaiserman, of Ashville, $25 and costs Tuesday afternoon in H. O. Eveland's court.

GYPSIES ESCAPE WITH $12 FROM LOUIS HETTINGER

Failure to obtain descriptions of either the gypsies or the autos they used blocked the sheriff's department Tuesday afternoon in their investigation of the robbery of Louis Hettinger, 80, of Route 5, of $12 in cash.

Officers were told the gypsies approached Mr. Hettinger while he was in the yard cutting wood, and when they left he learned his money was missing.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff urged all residents to obtain descriptions of suspicious persons and their cars. During the last week two carloads of gypsies have been ordered out of the county by the department. "Don't let them get near you," was the advice of the sheriff. "If strangers stop at your home and your suspicions are aroused take their description and a description of the car, then if anything develops we have something to work on."

A parade was produced on short notice for the evening celebration. A feature of the parade was the noise. Nearly 50 cars were in the column in addition to many wagons. The climax of the event was held at the courthouse where an effigy of the Kaiser was burned on a funeral pyre. Music for the marchers was furnished by the Red Rooster band and drum corps and the Ashville band.

A large crowd attended thanksgiving services in Trinity Lutheran church after the celebration.

BIG FOUR TRAIN ACCIDENT FATAL TO MAIL CLERK

FAIRLAND, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — One man was killed and six others were injured today when 10 coaches of the Big Four railroad's Chicago-Cincinnati passenger express left the rails near London and plunged into a water-filled ditch.

The accident occurred at a bridge six miles west of here at 3 a. m., as the train sped out of Indianapolis on the second half of its night run.

JURORS CONVICT COLUMBUS MAN IN AUTO DEATH

Frank Huston, 28, to Serve Alternative Term For Manslaughter

FACES COURT FRIDAY Reformatory, Fine or Jail Sentence Possible

The first Pickaway county test of a new state law was completed late Tuesday afternoon in favor of the state when Frank Huston, 28, of 1353 Carrie avenue, Columbus, was convicted of second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of Lawrence Saylor, 18 of Monroe, Mich.

A jury convicted Huston after deliberating about 30 minutes.

The second degree manslaughter law, which became effective in Ohio Aug. 19, 1935, involves a person who unintentionally kills another while breaking any law on the state's highways. Prosecutor Ray W. Davis charged Huston was driving his automobile when intoxicated.

Term Up to Judge

The sentence is alternative, leaving its severity to the trial judge, in this case Judge J. W. Adkins of common pleas court. Saylor, who will be sentenced Friday, may serve one to 20 years in the Ohio reformatory, or be fined $1 to $500 and confined 30 days to six months in the county jail.

Jurors who convicted him were Ray Plum and Mabel Noggle, Walnut township; Paul Boughner, Muhlenberg township; Ethel Fee, Jackson township; Jane Sweetman, Circleville; Peter Follrod, Deer Creek township; Lillie Briggs, Perry township; F. L. Minshall, Pearl D. Armstrong, and Emmett Lutz, Sals Creek township; Nelson Winifough, Monroe township, and Helen Hedges, Harrison township.

Collision Sept. 27

Huston was driving the automobile which collided with another operated by Edward Waldon of Monroe last Sept. 27, two miles south of Circleville. Young Saylor was riding with Waldon and his brother, Frank Saylor. They were returning to Monroe after visiting relatives in Kentucky.

The Columbus man was held in the county jail from Sept. 27 until his trial, unable to furnish $2,000 bond.

ACOSTA, OTHER AIRMEN TO FLY IN SPANISH WAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Bert Acosta, who piloted Admiral Richard E. Byrd across the Atlantic ocean, and two flying companions will leave for Spain to fight the rebels, he said, as soon as they get $1,650 each — a month's pay — in advance.

He hoped to receive the money in time to catch the Normandie which sails today. He sat up last night in his Chelsea bedroom writing his last will and testament — just in case.

Acosta will be accompanied by Capt. Gordon Berry and Capt. O. D. Bell.

"We'll fly for dear old Spain — and $1,650 a month — if Madrid holds out until we get there," Acosta said.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 — (UP) — James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, sails today for England and Ireland on a three-week vacation leaving behind a plea for national unity.

Roosevelt and Pershing Honor Nation's War Dead

Rites Conducted in Arlington Cemetery With Numerous High Officials Paying Tribute At Unknown Soldier's Grave

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 — (UP) — The United States today remembered its World War dead in fitting ceremonies by hushed gatherings in national cemeteries throughout the nation. It is the 18th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which ended the World War.

At 11 a. m., the exact anniversary of the moment at which the guns on the western front ceased their thunder, a period of absolute silence lasting two minutes stretched across the nation as a tribute to the memory of those who fell in battle.

In the nation's capital, the ceremonies were held in Arlington national cemetery at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. President Roosevelt, General John J. Pershing, leader of America's war-time army, Secretary of War Harry H. Wooding and other government officials and dignitaries participated.

High point of the ceremony was reached when President Roosevelt handed General Pershing a simple wreath which the war-time commander placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The president's Armistice Day proclamation was read by Col. Rice W. Means who fathered the bill in congress to set aside Nov. 11 as Armistice Day.

Other speakers included Harry W. Colmery, national commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. O. W. Hahn, national president of the Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. J. J. Brehmer, 84, stepmother of Robert L. Brehmer, N. Court street, died Wednesday morning in Lancaster city hospital where she had undergone an operation for an intestinal obstruction.

Mrs. Brehmer had been making her home with Charles Burnworth, Bremen, a nephew by marriage, for the last three months.

The funeral will be Friday at 1:30 p. m. in Bremen with burial in Forest cemetery.

BALLOTS COST COUNTY ABOUT 22 CENTS EACH

The election last week cost approximately 22 cents per voter in Pickaway county, it was revealed Wednesday by the Board of Elections.

The total election expense was $2,978. This included $2,068 for the payroll of judges and clerks, $748 for ballots, $262 for poll books, and $500 for miscellaneous expenses. The vote cast in the county was 13,118.

Pickaway county's rate was slightly over that of Ross county and below Fairfield county. The Ross rate was approximately 21 cents and in Fairfield county 25 cents.

Reports of candidates on their election expenses are to be filed with the board before 6:30 p. m. Friday.

EDWARD LEMAY ESTATE VALUE SET AT $15,048

Appraisers valued the estate of Edward Lemay, Monroe township, at $15,048.49 in an inventory and appraisal filed in probate court Tuesday, listing personal property at $150, securities $500, and real estate $14,398.40.

Appraisers were O. J. Ray, J. E. Gill and N. K. Cook. C. M. Neff is executor.

FIERCE BATTLE ON IN MADRID

Suburbs Bombarded While Rebels Gain Several of City's Bridges

PARIS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Fierce fighting was in progress in Madrid's suburbs today and the city was under heavy bombardment.

The United Press talked with the Argentine embassy in Madrid by telephone from Paris after trying for 30 hours to establish contact.

Jose Sanchez, secretary to E. Perez Quesada, charge d'affaires, said:

"There is fierce fighting in the suburbs and a continual bombardment by artillery and aviation. It is believed the insurgents have crossed two or three bridges in the outer suburbs but certainly have not reached the city proper. The government forces are putting up a fierce fight."

JUDGES TO RULE ON VALIDITY OF NEW YORK LAW

Unemployment Section Drawn Fire From Three Firms; Hearing Starts

NATION INTERESTED Contestants Charge 14th Amendment Violated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 — (UP) — The unemployment insurance section of the Social Security law — keystone of the New Deal's program to give more abundant life to America's economic underdogs — meets a Constitutional test before the Supreme Court late today or tomorrow.

Arguments start then in a case questioning validity of New York's jobless compensation act, a debate over the right to tax employers to create a fund for keeping millions of workers in food, clothing and shelter if thrown out of employment.

If the high tribunal holds the act legal, the Social Security board will forge ahead to spread its unemployment benefit system to some 26,000,000 workers in all 48 states, the District of Columbia, territories and possessions.

Would Be Junked

But if the court rules the law invalid, officials admitted their plans must be junked, that the program already operating in 13 states and Washington, D. C., would go. The measure now has 7,863,156 individuals under its protection, 2,600,000 in New York state alone.

Meanwhile, the security board, the post office department and the bureau of internal revenue completed arrangements to distribute hundreds of thousands of legal form to industrial and commercial employers next Monday to start the old age benefit phase of their program.

The employers will report back to Washington Nov. 21 on the nature of their businesses and number of employees. Officials estimated 26,000,000 workers would pay joint employer - employee tax next January 1, 1937, to set up a huge U. S. treasury reserve (Continued on Page Eight)

CHARGES FILED AGAINST GIRLS HELD IN THEFT

Additional shoplifting charges were filed in Mayor W. J. Graham's court Tuesday night against Clara O'Neill, 23, and Othella Smales, 22, of Jackson, arrested Monday afternoon by Officer Fred Fitzpatrick.

They had previously been charged with taking a dress valued at $4.98 from the J. C. Penny store. Charges were filed Tuesday night by J. Wallace Crist in theft of two dresses and a sweater, Nov. 7, amounting to $13.85.

The two dresses and the sweater were recovered Tuesday at the girls' homes in Jackson and identified by Mr. Crist. He said the girls also produced two skirts taken from the Ideal Frock Shop, Chillicothe.

Mayor Graham planned to hold hearings in the case Wednesday afternoon.

TEACHERS ASK DAVEY TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

TOLEDO, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Efforts to persuade Governor Davey to call a special session of the legislature to provide needed school funds were made today by the Toledo Federation of Teachers as a result of the defeat of the proposed one-mill school levy here at last week's election.

The Toledo board of education faced a possible shortage of $674,000 in anticipated revenue, $300,000 because of the repeal of the sales tax on food, and $374,000 because of a shortage in the state school foundation fund. A shortening of the school year, with a resultant loss in teachers' salaries, was threatened unless funds are provided.

FAMILIES SEEK BABY "MOSES", FOUND IN SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—(UP)—A half hundred persons today offered to adopt an unidentified 8-pound baby boy, less than three days old, who was snatched from the mouth of a strange dog at dusk yesterday in the woods of St. Tammany parish.

Residents of Pearl River, the community where the baby was saved, reported the affair by telephone to New Orleans. Wide-eyed neighbors of Mrs. Louis Crawford, who rescued the baby, suggested that he be named "Moses" because he was found "by a miracle."

Mrs. Crawford was seated on the porch of her home when she saw the animal running through the woods. She heard a faint whimper from a white bundle it gripped in its teeth.

Mrs. Crawford ran after the animal grasped the bundle. Investigating, Mrs. Crawford found the baby. She summoned a midwife who said the boy was in the best of health.

No one in Pearl River knew the dog by description. It trotted away as mysteriously as it came, residents said, and has not been reported since.

BY UNITED PRESS
The thunder of guns on a thousand-mile front were still 18 years ago today. Five million men who fought under a score of flags laid down their arms to end the greatest war in history.

The 18th year after the signing of the Armistice saw one war end and another start. The peace of the world had been broken. Italy, reaching out for colonies, conquered Ethiopia. With the conclusion of that conflict, tension was slackened, momentarily in Europe. Then came the upheaval in Spain which threatened and still threatens the peace of Europe.

The mighty war machines of Europe, growing more powerful every year, needed only this background to set a faster pace. The tides of diplomacy gave them new impetus. They are stronger now than at any time in history.

Belgium Changes Stand

Europe has undergone a new realignment, the most recent development being Belgium's declaration of neutrality. But the most significant and most outstanding series of events periling Europe's peace has been Germany's military rise. The steel chain which the victorious Allies flung around Germany in the form of military alliances has been snapped asunder by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. And as each bond was broken it was the signal for more feverish military expansion.

These factors are significant in Europe: Germany's breaking of the military clauses of the Treaty of Versailles.

Germany's re-establishment of complete sovereignty in the Rhineland.

In addition, these factors are the chief concern of France: Germany's naval treaty with Great Britain.

Germany's inroads on the Little Entente.

France on Defensive

For years after the World War the French system of military alliances dominated Europe. This original lineup, with France as the orbit, consisted of four states—Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, Belgium, Greece and Turkey, as well as Italy, once were considered as staunch allies. But now Belgium has subscribed to the Netherlands type of neutrality; Italy's status has grown more indefinite and Poland has been alienated by the conclusion of a Berlin-Warsaw non-aggression treaty.

To offset this defection in the ranks of France's allies, Paris has won Soviet Russia through a "mutual assistance" pact.

France still relies heavily on its ring of frontier forts facing the Rhine, but in the past six months pressing internal problems have outweighed military issues.

Italy Rises as Power

Italy, emerging victorious in the Ethiopian war, has one of Europe's most formidable land fighting force. It rivals the red legions of Soviet Russia in strength. Italy's standing army of more than a million men has a reserve strength estimated at 7,000,000 based on the number of men subject to military call.

Great Britain has embarked on a great military program. The navy and air force are the spearheads in this preparedness drive.

The air force is keeping pace with the navy. During the current year the Royal Air Force has opened six new airbases, landing fields or seaplane bases, while another 33 are expected to be completed before the year ends.

Soviet Russia, as it uses industry, becomes a greater military power. In recent months the move for a strong navy has gained impetus. The Red army has been brought to a high state of efficiency.

The Little Entente is daily more conscious of the widening breach that separates it from France.

Yugo-Slavia has been flirting with Germany, only for the purpose of driving through business deals, according to government spokesmen. But Europe knows that business friends often also become fighting partners. Paris is exerting strenuous efforts to rally France's staggered allies together again.

system, however, have not by any means destroyed the towering might of the allies of Paris, backed by the hordes in the air and on land of Soviet Russia.

STATE SOLONS IN CONTEST FOR JOBS IN HOUSE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11—(UP)—Although the election is only a week past, the fight for the controlling posts in the New Ohio General Assembly is already under way.

Rep. Al Kalb, Port Clinton, third term, announced his candidacy today for speaker of the house. Rep. Frank R. Uible, Cleveland, third term, Democratic floor leader in the present house, indicated he will be a candidate. Rep. Robert F. Kaser, Shelby, third term, and Rep. Jacob E. Davis, Pike, second term, were reported to be receptive candidates for speaker, although neither has made formal announcement. Rep. Lody Huml, Cleveland, second term, announced his candidacy for Democratic floor leader, and declared his intention of supporting Representative Kalb for speaker.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Never before have so many celebrated singers been assembled in a screen production. That was the unique record established by Republic's "Follow Your Heart," glamorous operatta which will open tonight at the Cliftona theatre.

Supporting Marion Talley, former Metropolitan opera star and Michael Bartlett, handsome tenor of concert and opera stage, are thirteen players whose names have been featured in singing roles.

In addition to these are fifty Negro choristers—members of the famous Hall Johnson choir of New York, and the Larry Ceballos dancing-singing ensemble of 100. On the same program you will see "The Accusing Finger."

AT THE CIRCLE

Spencer Tracy's most recent picture, "The Murder Man," in which he stars with lovely Virginia Bruce, is the feature at the Circle theatre this week. Although he is noted for powerful screen characterizations, Tracy never has had a more vivid role than in this picture. He plays a star reporter of a New York newspaper and is dubbed "The Murder Man" because of his success in solving mysterious crimes. Becoming involved in a murder case, Tracy aids the police in finding the true criminal, with disastrous results to himself.

AT THE GRAND

Jane Withers plays the leading role in "Pepper," at the Grand theatre Wednesday and Thursday. In the cast are Irvin S. Cobb, Slim Summerville, and Dean Jagger.

CLARKSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Speakman and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bowdle and family.

The Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Ralph Stitt Wednesday evening, Nov. 11. Mrs. Russell Alter will assist her.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stitt, Mrs. Frances Jones, Mrs. Alice Tottle and daughter, Miss Harriett Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hurst, and Mrs. Cecil Acton attended the funeral of Mr. J. W. Myers at Williamsport Saturday.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Short, born October 11, 1936, died at their home near Atlanta, Saturday morning shortly after midnight. Another child, a boy, died in October. The parents and three other children survive.

Mrs. Austin Gatlin, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brown, the past three weeks left Friday to return to her home at Kingsport, Tenn.

Funeral services and burial for Andrew J. (Jack) Swyers were held at Brown's Chapel Saturday morning with Rev. Mantell of the Mt. Sterling M. E. Church officiating. His death occurred at the home of his son, James Swyers near Mt. Sterling.

Mr. Swyers formerly resided in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carter moved to their newly purchased home on North Street Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stevens have rented their farm and will move there in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gillespie, Columbus were week end guests of Mrs. Frances Jones and attended the funeral of J. W. Myers, a relative.

Myron Adams, Columbus was the weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Adams.

Miss Ruth Ann Anderson, who has spent the past several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harcourt, near Greenfield is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dawson are modernizing their home by the installation of a bath room.

Mr. and Mrs. Os Drais, Chillicothe were week-end guests of Mrs. Drais' mother, Mrs. Sophronia Alter.

Ivan Hyer was the victim of an accident on Friday from which he escaped with minor bruises. Going into the basement of his home to investigate an electric pump which was not working properly he was so shocked by contact with it he could not release his hold. The shock threw him forcibly to the floor and the plug which connected the pump was pulled from the socket.

Mrs. Hyer came to his aid in answer to his call. He seemed little worse for the experience.

COUNTY HUSKER
SECOND IN OHIO
SHOCK CONTEST

Paul Winn of Ashville
Finishes Behind South
Solon Man

CONWAY ENDS IN FIFTH

Reisinger Down List With Only 654.56 Pounds

Paul Winn, victor in the Pickaway county shock corn husking contest, was second Tuesday in the state competition at the Oyer farm, near Hebron, where the national contest was staged.

Winn husked 874.77 pounds, nearly 100 pounds less than the winner, Foster Snyder of South Solon, Madison county, who had 961.25.

Homer Conway, 1935 Ohio champion from Ross county, was fifth with 854.30, while Carl Reisinger, another Ross countian, finished down the list with 654.56.

Iowan is Champion

HEBRON, Nov. 11 — (UP) — A raw-boned, red faced Iowa farmer, but a champion of champions, felt bitterly disillusioned today. There were no radio engagements, no movie contracts, no vaudeville booking agents — nothing in his future but endless rows of corn.

"I guess there isn't much future in corn husking," said Carl Carlson, 38, who yesterday defeated 18 state champions and their runners-up in the annual corn husking championships. His is a prominent Adam's apple and he bobbed up and down as he talked, signifying his earnestness. "I did $10,000 worth of work yesterday and all I got was a gold cup and $200. It wasn't enough."

In white duck pants and running shirt, Carlson devastated an acre of corn yesterday in 80 minutes to the cheers of 100,000 on-lookers who swarmed all over the Oyer farm near here.

Not to Compete

Carl granted the interview in the presence of his brother, Elmer, the retired, undefeated corn-husking champion of the world. Elmer ravaged a corn patch in Indiana last year, plucking 906.40 pounds in 80 minutes. Carl picked 1,472.75 pounds to win yesterday. Elmer, disillusioned before Carl, won't compete again until someone equals or betters his record.

"I been trying to think ways of making more money husking," Elmer said. "I wish those Hollywood folks would make a picture about husking and hire us as actors."

"So do I," said Carl. Carl explained that he would have done better had his stand of corn not been so spotty and had not the mud between the rows been half knee deep.

"The water got so deep down by the end," he said, "that I was sure enough tempted to quit a-huskin' and go fishin'." I knew there was fish in there somewhere."

You don't blossom into a champion corn husker overnight. Carl's been husking ever since he was six or seven and since 1929 has been working at it as diligently as Michelangelo ever worked on a statue.

Election May Mean She Walks

BECAUSE township property owners voted favorably on a $14,000 bond issue in the recent election, Betty McGhee, seven-year-old crippled girl of Jackson, Ohio, may walk again. The bond issue was to pay off a court judgment in the little girl's favor and to provide the necessary money for surgery that may save her from life as a hopeless cripple. The child was disabled two years ago when she stepped on hot ashes left on a highway near her home by township workers. Betty was awarded damages but the township had no money to pay.

ceiling. He shadow boxes, so to speak, with a row of corn two or three times a week in season, exercises his fingers and wrists — they're as supple as a pianist's and strong as a blacksmith's — and diets like a ballet dancer.

Farm Nears Normal

Farmer Alva Oyer allowed he had never seen such a day and that it would be a long time before the world forgot Licking county and the show it put on. The church ladies of Hebron, Luray and Newark were removing their cider stands and fried chicken tents from his east pasture; his cows and pigs, frightened out of their wits by the cheering multitudes of yesterday, were coming out of hiding, and in his cribs were the golden ears from his corn field — expertly husked by champion huskers.

SLOT MACHINES

COUNCIL TALKS LICENSES

Revenue For City Possible
Under Proposed Plan

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 11 — Licensing of slot machines may be the method by which Chillicothe will attempt to balance its budget in 1937, it appeared Tuesday as City Hall echoed rumors that "the slots may be back by Friday."

Mayor James E. Ford, who kicked the gambling devices out when he came into office the first of the year, refused to discuss the rumors.

"I haven't anything to say now," he declared when pressed for a statement.

"They were saying that slot machines would be back in operation Tuesday morning," he said, "but they are not. One thing," he added, "no machines that are brought to City Hall are going out again."

The mayor pointed to two slot machines that were confiscated several months ago.

City to Share?

Meanwhile, it is known that some councilmen strongly favor allowing "skill games" to return to operation on a license system. Income from this source, proponents claim, would go a long way toward making up a $15,000 deficit the city faces in operating income for next year.

They are ready to introduce a licensing ordinance, it is said, should the mayor allow slot machines to return.

The matter is reported to have been discussed informally at an executive meeting of councilmen following the regular meeting Monday night. Finance was the main topic of the caucus, the slot machine issue merely being injected as a revenue-producing possibility.

Next year, the city will have to provide $10,000 to operate its new sewage disposal plant. On top of this new outlay, income will be reduced possibly by $5,000 as result of the repeal of the sales tax on food. The sales tax netted the city $18,000 last year.

Debt May Remain

In the face of these two items, chances for reducing the $30,000 debt inherited by the Ford administration look very slim. Auditor Lou Hibbler said Tuesday he expected the city would end up on the right side of the ledger, but he held out no hope for whittling much off the debt.

Mr. Hibbler and Solicitor Kenneth T. Stevens are giving consideration to a plan to wipe out the debt by taking advantage of state law which allows subdivisions to issue bonds up to 70 per cent of the total tax delinquency on approval of the state tax commission.

Amount of the tax delinquency has not yet been computed, so nothing yet is known as to whether the bond issue would be sufficient to cover that total debt.

ANNUAL DRIVE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Ohio's 108 Red Cross chapters today started their annual roll call for members in an attempt to bring the membership up to 350,000.

"In order to carry on the new programs of highway first aid and home and farm accident prevention as well as the established services of first aid, life saving, home hygiene, public health nursing, Junior Red Cross, veterans' aid, disaster relief and rehabilitation, the Red Cross is asking for 5,000-000 members in the continental United States," H. J. Robinson, state chairman of the organization, said.

"Ohio's share is 360,000, but a goal of 380,000 is sought," Robinson said.

The roll call will continue from today to Thanksgiving.

SALES TAX OFF
FOODSTUFFS IN OHIO WEDNESDAY

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Going marketing today, housewives had the pleasant experience of buying foods free of the three percent sales tax for the first time since January, 1935.

Approved by the voters at the recent general election, a constitutional amendment was effective today which removed the tax from all food-stuffs for home consumption.

Taxing authorities estimate the revenue loss through repeal of the tax at between $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 between now and January.

The estimated wholesale value of dry skimmilk manufactured in the first seven months of 1936 was 33 per cent greater than the value of this product in the same period of 1935. Half of the dry skimmilk is produced in plants owned cooperatively by farmers.

Ohio land areas without vegetation cover may lose, through soil erosion, 200 times as much soil as areas covered with good bluegrass sod. Ohio State University agronomists say that the cost of pasture improvement is frequently justified by its effect of controlling soil erosion.

Rural economists say that it is difficult for Ohio farmers to change management practices for more profitable methods unless they have a good system of farm accounts. County agricultural agents can give information about farm account books designed especially for use in this state.

Old eggs are known by their shadows. Poultry experts at Ohio State University say the eggs whose yolks throw a distinct shadow when the eggs are candled are no longer fresh. The whites of fresh eggs are thick enough to diffuse the light so the yolks do not appear so distinctly in candling.

Committees at Ohio State University and groups of farmers and homemakers are already planning to make next Farmers' Week, January 25 to 29, at Columbus, a record breaker in this series of important agricultural meetings. More than 5,000 people attended the meetings last year in spite of the worst period of weather ever encountered for the week.

THE EIGHTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

ALL the world over, hearts will be rejoicing this Armistice Day, anniversary of the cessation of hostilities in the World War. That was an event big and important enough to warrant the setting aside by law of one day a year to commemorate it. And it will be more important than now in the years to come when new generations will be forgetting or knowing only by reference to history of the momentous significance of that compact signed in the French woods bringing to an end a conflict that raged for four years and came closer to toppling civilization than any other event in modern history.

The natural impulse on Armistice Day is to enshrine deeper in the affection and admiration of the people the services rendered by the men and women who bore their parts in the struggle. There cannot be too much of that. For the American people or the people protected by the army and navy of any other nation to forget the sacrifices made would be hideous ingratitude.

Generations may get out of patience with the war veterans for this, that or the other thing, but as a group these veterans hold notes against the public which can and will never be paid in full. It is impossible to revive the dead and to restore the injured to full and selfsame bodily vigor. No measure wholly wipes from memory the terror and squalor of the trench, the madness of the abarrage, the torture of the wounded. These things are given beyond hope of adequate repayment and it is the nation's duty as it is its desire to show in ever reasonable way its gratitude.

But that gratitude cannot confine itself to mere words and flag-waving. Like as not "doughboys" and the "gobs" believe that their country is appreciative of their services, but what they want is for their countrymen to establish in practice the principles these fighting men went to the trench and the camp to uphold.

Those principles envisage democracy, with all that word implies, the right of the people to rule, the sanctity of the ballot box so that the people can rule, the integrity in public office, the observance of law and the enforcement thereof, the preservation of the home, the contentment of the people.

That is the vision of the Armistice Day of 1936.

Governor Landon did rather well in spite of the help of Hoover.

World At A Glance

The recent election result suggests that perhaps the United States has been undergoing a transformation which we of the older generation, at least, have not realized was progressing — and now, all at once, we find it transformed.

Old time Republicans, analyzing the figures, arrive at the conclusion that the G. O. P. had the bad luck to run into a depression, for which it was blamed, unjustifiably, they say. Now, they continue, the Democrats have had the good luck to run into the beginnings of recovery, for which they are no more entitled to credit, although they get it, than the G. O. P. was deserving, according to its veteran spokesman, of blame for the depression.

It is true that the Republicans, since the Civil war, have had a record of more prosperous administrations, generally speaking, than the Democrats.

The Democrats have argued that the Republicans, when in power, have engineered unhealthy booms, leaving Democratic administrations, succeeding them, to bear the responsibility for consequent slumps that they did not cause, but could not, after so much previous Republican mismanagement, avert.

ROOSEVELT TO BATTLE COURT

WASHINGTON—Now that people have stopped analyzing the whys and wherefores of the Roosevelt landslide, those around the President agree that the one all-important issue facing him is: The New Deal vs. the Supreme Court.

Whether you are for the Court or for the New Deal, that conclusion is inescapable. Roosevelt now has an overwhelming majority in the Senate. He controls a record portion of the House of Representatives. Within reason, he can get from them what he wants. He also has polled the most astounding re-election majority in history.

The majority which he received and the votes which Democratic Senators and Congressmen received he interprets as a vote of confidence in the major policies he stood for, and some of the most important of these major policies have been challenged or completely nullified by the Supreme Court.

The regulation of agriculture, the regulation of oil, the regulation of coal, the regulation of industry in general, the abolition of child labor, the fixing of minimum wages, the adjustment of municipal debts, the establishment of railroad pensions, and others all have been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

ECONOMIC REGULATION

Many New Dealers, including the President, now admit privately that the NRA and even the AAA were faulty in the details of their original set-up. But the basic philosophy behind them—that of government regulation of the economic life of the nation—they do not consider faulty. Moreover, they are ready to go to bat for it, and they consider Roosevelt's overwhelming re-election a mandate from the people to proceed with this general type of regulation.

You can write it down in the book, therefore, that if the Supreme Court continues to block the path of economic regulation, Roosevelt is prepared to throw all the weight of his personal prestige and his administration against the Nine Old Men.

The manner in which this battle is to be waged has not yet been decided, but already the President and his advisers have given it much thought.

Three methods of attack have been considered. They are:

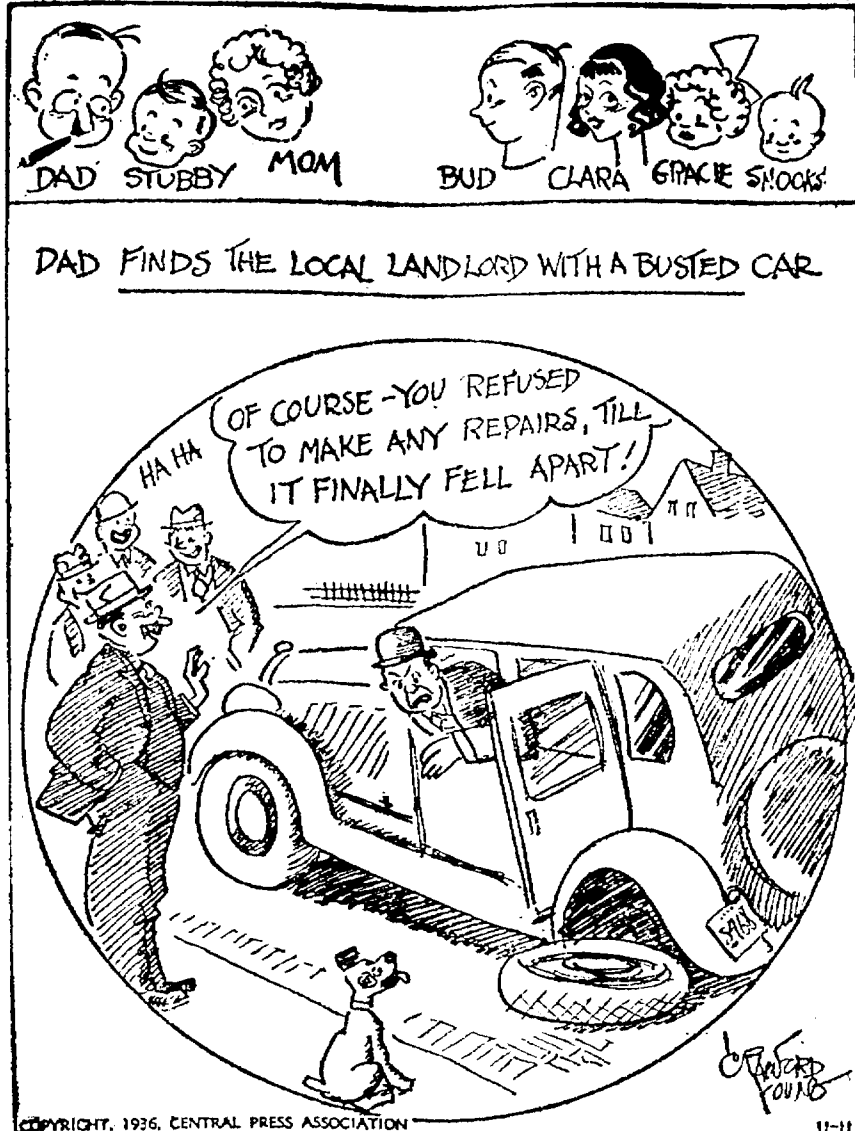

1. Wait for deaths or resignations in order to change the political complexion of the Court.
2. Adopt what New Dealers consider the moderate policy of a Constitutional Amendment permitting Congress and the states to fix hours, wages and to regulate industry.
3. Adopt the drastic policy of a Constitutional Amendment abrogating the Court's power to wipe out legislation.

REAL SHOWDOWN

Finally, the New Dealers now have decided that the overwhelming vote given President Roosevelt is an opening for them to shear the Supreme Court's power permanently rather than adopt any temporary measures.

Do Not Worry Too Much Over Pulse

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THE OTHER DAY I noticed a queer fluttering sensation in the region of my heart, and found when I put my hand on my pulse that the beat would skip every once in a while. I am 50 years old and worried for fear this means the beginning of the heart disease of middle age you hear so much about nowadays."

This is a very common experience, especially at that age. I found the other day in a book by one of the greatest English surgeons, James Paget, called "Studies of Old Case-Books"—that a name for a book, and what stories every doctor could get out of his old case records!—the following:

"In the early part of July, 1886, I chanced to find that my pulse beat irregularly. It may have done so before I observed it, for I was not in the habit of feeling it, and only by chance did so now, while sitting with my hands clasped, so that the beating of the digital arteries could be felt in the mutually compressed fingers. That a name for one beat. Three or four or more would follow regularly; then, one would be missing. . . . With this irregularity of pulse I was not conscious of any change in my feelings of health. My physician found nothing wrong in the heart sounds. About two months later my holiday-time came and I went to the Pyrenees.

Gives No Special Care
 "I took no special care of myself, but ate and drank the usual foods and wine of each place, and traveled and walked and amused myself in any way that chanced. Still the irregularity of the pulse continued. When I returned at the end of five weeks I felt refreshed, and found after a period of time at home that my pulse was still irregular in the same way. In other words, it continued unchanged in all the different varieties of holiday life. I tried in vain to find anything materially affecting it; exercise or rest, full meals or sparse; sleeping or waking; it was always alike."

James Paget was then 72 years old, and did not die until 1899, in his eighty-first year. So there is confirmation of the fact generally believed that these intermittences are not serious. They are sometimes disagreeable, as in the case of my correspondent who was conscious of the irregular beating of his heart. It sometimes feels as if the heart has turned over.

This case report of James Paget's was not noticed very widely, and it was not until another Englishman, Dr. James Mackenzie, pointed out emphatically the harmlessness of this form of irregular pulse that doctors stopped viewing it with alarm and putting patients to bed on account of it.

There is hardly a person who reaches the age of 50 who does not at some time or other have this form of irregularity. Tobacco is liable to aggravate it, and exercise is calculated to calm it down, but in either case it is of little consequence.

CHAPTER 44
 "KATHLEEN, did you . . . ?"
 "Alix, where have you . . . ?"
 "But tell me about . . ."
 "No, I want to hear about you . . ."
 "If you're not in a rush, darling, let's go in here and talk it over a cup of tea. We don't seem to be getting anywhere this way." Alix held hungrily to Kathleen's arm until they found a table in the tea room a block from the store where Alix worked and where Kathleen had run into her.
 "This is like the first time we met. Remember?" Kathleen said and felt something stab her in Alix's arm while she tried to be blithe. It was the kind of a smile that made you feel it was the first in a very long time.
 Kathleen hurried on, "We can't possibly say it all tonight, Alix. So, let's get the facts off first. You ran away, so you couldn't know that Kim and I are married?"
 "Oh, yes, I've known. And you're terribly happy, aren't you?"
 "Anyone would have known that Kathleen was terribly happy. It was written all over her. In her face, her gestures, the way she wore smart clothes. She didn't wear smart clothes previously. Kathleen knew that her happiness was obvious but for some reason it embarrassed her before Alix.
 "I did send you a letter, Alix. And I wrote you several times from Mexico."
 "Did you?" Alix asked dreamily. It was enough to be here with Kathleen.
 "Yes, I did. And sent you our best."
 "Then you didn't believe me, did you, Kathleen?"
 "When you said that you wanted a richer man than Kim? No, of course I didn't and neither does Kim now. I knew why you did it and I let you because I knew that you didn't love him. Don't ever think of that again, Alix. Can you forgive me for my long silence?"
 "It's so nice to see you again, to hear your voice, I can forgive you for anything."
 "But I did write."
 "Yes," Alix said as though she did not believe it.
 "Tell me about you. I see the old depression got you, darling. I know how dreadful it has been all over town with agencies cutting and all that."
 "If you mean what's happened since I've seen you, well . . . I didn't lose my job. I left New York. I thought maybe a change of scenery would be good for me. It wasn't enough of a change, she said bitterly, "and I thought I'd better come back. I just took this department store job until I can get something better. I've been to several advertising agencies and I have awfully good chances," she said with a trace of defiance.
 "I'm sure you have, Alix. You've done such clever work."
 "And you always say the things that make me feel good, don't you?"
 "Now don't try to pretend that you need me to say things like that," Kathleen said gaily, hoping that she was convincing Alix.
 "Of course not. You haven't told me anything about yourself."
 "Well, let me see. We went to the West Indies on a cruise for our honeymoon, came back to New York—we're living with father at the same place—then we went to Mexico and returned this October."
 "It sounds very exciting," Alix couldn't think of anything but the most conventional things to say.
 "It was. Alix," Kathleen allowed herself a long thoughtful pause, "have you been to see John Sayre?"
 "Alix shook her head slowly; she didn't speak.
 "Why not?" Kathleen asked.
 "We weren't friends, Kathleen. I was in love with him. I can't go to see him. I don't even know where he is."
 "But you can find that out. He was a worthwhile person, Alix."

"Then will you call this week?"

I rather suspected that you two cared for each other. It seems to me at a time like this you ought to swallow your pride and go and pay him a courtesy visit."

"Another girl told me once that I ought to swallow my pride but there are some things you and she do not understand. I'm not going to burden you with a confidence, Kathleen, but I can't go to him, even if I could find him. He let me go out of his life. When a man wants a woman, he usually tries to hold on to her."

"Perhaps you're right. I don't know all about it. But right now, I've got to fly. Kim and I are dining with Peggy Randolph tonight and she insists on promptness. When are we going to see you? What are you going to do Christmas?"
 "Oh, Kathleen, I don't know yet."

"But I can't reach you at the shop, can I?"
 "No and I . . . I'm not at home very often," Alix was fighting for time. She didn't want Kathleen to know about her pitifully small room at the Y. Oh, Alix, always your pride!

"Then promise to call me. You must remember the number."
 "Yes. Yes, of course I do," Alix said eagerly. Glad that she hadn't had to tell Kathleen where she lived.

"Then will you call this week?"
 "Yes, I will," Alix called as Kathleen's taxi door closed.
 She couldn't call that week. That was her week to work until nine o'clock. The next week she couldn't call because she was too tired. And the next week she wouldn't call because it was Christmas week and she didn't want Kathleen to pity her.

To Christmas she presented a story face and made her plans calmly. She'd sleep until noon. Have a cheerful breakfast somewhere and walk in the park during the afternoon. She'd go to a movie and have dinner before she went home to bed. And all that day she'd forget that it was Christmas.

"Kim!" Kathleen Preston, surrounded with boxes and tinsel and silver paper, called to her husband.
 "Yes, Mrs. Preston. This is the third time you've called me back. How do you ever expect that I'm to get my Christmas shopping done?"
 "Kim, you idiot! Don't you know you oughtn't to let you shopping go until two days before Christmas? Sit down a minute, pet, I want you to do something for me."

Kim sighed and removed his gloves.
 "Darling, it's two and a half weeks since I saw Alix. She promised to telephone me and she hasn't."

"Kathleen, she probably has other things to do and, besides, you can't expect her to feel perfectly comfortable about coming here."

"And why not?" Kathleen sat back on her heels and surveyed him blandly. "I told you that we had had that all out. You knew that she had to disillusion you to wake you up to the way you both felt and now you're pretending you thought it was true that she was a gold digger."

"All right. What do you want me to do?"
 "If I didn't have this cursed ankle—she looked ruefully at her bandaged ankle—"I'd have gone in to see her myself. I'm worried about her so you've got to do it. You've got to bring her home this very night."

"What for?"
 "Don't be dumb, Kim. You won't recognize Alix. She's skinny as a starved cat. I suspect she is half starved. All her bright radiance seems to have faded. Not forever, I hope, but it isn't there now. There's something sick and desperate about her. I don't want you to start and stare when you see her. Make her think she looks just the same to you. But bring her home. I'm counting on you. Go along now and be sure to buy me something that is not a camera."

For another hour or two Kathleen busied herself with her packages and cards.

"Mr. Preston on the telephone, Miss Kathleen," Roberts said.
 "Say, Kathleen, did you say Alix worked at Reymund and Goode's?"
 "Yes, darling, in the glove department."

"They say there's no one there by that name now."

Kathleen thought rapidly and a presentiment made her say, "Hold the wire a minute while I think. . . ." Then, "Kim, tell them you are her long lost brother or something but find out where she lives and don't come home without her address."

Poems That Live

O FAIR! O SWEET!
O fair! O sweet! when I do look on thee,
In whom all joys so well agree,
Heart and soul do sing in me.
Just accord all music makes;
In thee just accord excelleth,
Where each part in such peace dwelleth,
One of other beauty takes,
Since, then, truth to all minds telleth
That in thee lives harmony
Heart and soul do sing in me.

CHAPTER 44

"KATHLEEN, did you . . . ?"
"Alx, where have you . . . ?"
"But tell me about . . ."
"No, I want to hear about you . . ."

"If you're not in a rush, darling, let's go in here and talk it over a cup of tea. We don't seem to be getting anywhere this way." Alx held hungrily to Kathleen's arm until they found a table in the tea room a block from the store where Alx worked and where Kathleen had run into her.

"This is like the first time we met. Remember?" Kathleen said and felt something stab her in Alx's wan smile that tried to be blithe. It was the kind of a smile that made you feel it was the first in a very long time.

Kathleen hurried on, "We can't possibly say it all tonight, Alx. So let's get the facts of first. You ran away, so you couldn't know that Kim and I are married?"

"Oh, yes, I've known. And you're terribly happy, aren't you?"
"Anyone would have known that Kathleen was terribly happy. It was written all over her. In her face, her gestures, the way she wore smart clothes. She didn't wear smart clothes previously."

Kathleen knew that her happiness was obvious but for some reason it embarrassed her before Alx.

"I did send you a letter, Alx. And I wrote you several times from Mexico."
"Did you?" Alx asked dreamily. It was enough to be here with Kathleen.

"Yes, I did. And sent you our best."
"Then you didn't believe me, did you, Kathleen?"
"When you said that you wanted a richer man than Kim? No, of course I didn't and neither does Kim now. I knew why you did it and I let you because I knew that you didn't love him. Don't ever think of that again, Alx. Can you forgive me for my long silence?"

"It's so nice to see you again, to hear your voice, I can forgive you for anything."
"But I did write."
"Yes," Alx said as though she did not believe it.

"Tell me about you. I see the old depression got you, darling. I know how dreadful it has been all over town with agencies cutting and all that."

"If you mean what's happened since I've seen you, well . . . I didn't lose my job. I left New York. I thought maybe a change of scenery would be good for me. It wasn't enough of a change, she said bitterly, "and I thought I'd better come back. I just took this department store job until I can get something better. I've been to several advertising agencies and I have awfully good chances," she said with a trace of defiance.

"I'm sure you have, Alx. You've done such clever work."
"And you always say the things that make me feel good, don't you?"
"Now don't try to pretend that you need me to say things like that," Kathleen said gaily, hoping that she was convincing Alx.

"Of course not. You haven't told me anything about yourself."
"Well, let me see. We went to the West Indies on a cruise for our honeymoon, came back to New York—we're living with father at the same place—then we went to Mexico and returned this October."

"It sounds very exciting," Alx couldn't think of anything but the most conventional things to say. "It was. Alx," Kathleen allowed herself a long thoughtful pause, "have you been to see John Sayre?"
Alx shook her head slowly; she didn't speak.
"Why not?" Kathleen asked. "You were such good friends."
"We weren't friends, Kathleen. I was in love with him. I can't go to see him. I don't even know where he is."
"But you can find that out. He was a worthwhile person. Alx."

"Then will you call this week?"

Alx rather suspected that you two cared for each other. It seems to me at a time like this you ought to swallow your pride and go and pay him a courtesy visit."

"Another girl told me once that I ought to swallow my pride but there are some things you and she do not understand. I'm not going to burden you with a confidence, Kathleen, but I can't go to him, even if I could find him. He let me go out of his life. When a man wants a woman, he usually tries to hold on to her."

"Perhaps you're right. I don't know all about it. But right now, I've got to fly. Kim and I are dining with Peggy Randolph tonight and she insists on promptness. When are we going to see you? What are you going to do Christmas?"

"Oh, Kathleen, I don't know yet."
"But I can't reach you at the shop, can I?"
"No and I . . . I'm not at home very often," Alx was fighting for time. She didn't want Kathleen to know about her pitifully small room at the Y. Oh, Alx, always your pride!

"Then promise to call me. You must remember the number."
"Yes. Yes, of course I do," Alx said eagerly. Glad that she hadn't had to tell Kathleen where she lived.

"Then will you call this week?"
"Yes, I will," Alx called as Kathleen's taxi door closed. She couldn't call that week. That was her week to work until nine o'clock. The next week she couldn't call because she was too tired. And the next week she wouldn't call because it was Christmas week and she didn't want Kathleen to pity her.

To Christmas she presented a stony face and made her plans calmly. She'd sleep until noon. Have a cheerful breakfast somewhere and walk in the park during the afternoon. She'd go to a movie and have dinner before she went home to bed. And all that day she'd forget that it was Christmas.

"Kim!" Kathleen Preston, surrounded with boxes and tinsel and silver paper, called to her husband.
"Yes, Mrs. Preston. This is the third time you've called me back. How do you ever expect that I'm to get my Christmas shopping done?"
"Kim, you idiot! Don't you

Eastern Star Elects
Mr., Mrs. C. D. Bennett

Committees Chosen for Reception for Miss Hamilton

Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Bennett, N. Court street, were honored Tuesday evening by election as worthy patron and worthy matron, respectively, of the Circleville chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

Other officers chosen were Miss Virginia Marion, associate matron; J. S. Morris, associate patron; Mrs. Lucy B. Price, secretary; Mrs. William B. Cady, treasurer; Mrs. E. S. Shane, conductress; Mrs. W. W. Robinson, associate conductress; W. E. Hilyard, trustee for three years. Remaining officers will be appointed by the newly-elected worthy matron.

Mrs. Bennett announced installation will be held Nov. 24 with Miss Marie Hamilton, grand worthy matron of Ohio, as the installing officer.

Sixty members and officers assembled for the regular meeting in the Masonic Temple.

Immediately following the entrance of the officers, the worthy matron, Mrs. George H. Adkins, graciously welcomed the grand worthy matron of Ohio, Miss Hamilton, to the east. The Circleville chapter is not unaware of the honor of having the grand worthy matron one of its members. She was presented with a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums, a gift from the chapter.

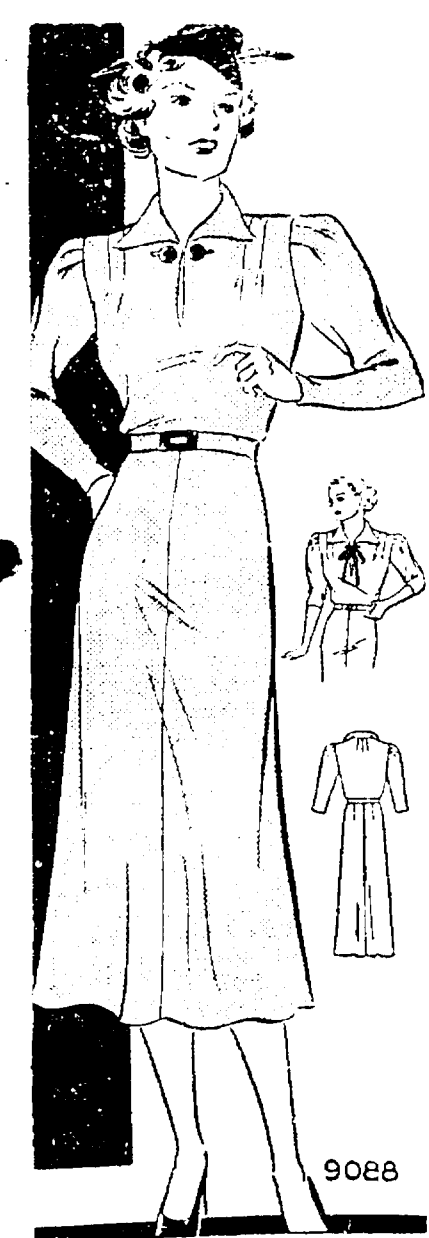

The meeting was opened in regular form. The worthy matron gave a splendid report of the grand chapter session which was interesting in instruction and was well received.

The announcement was made that plans for the dinner and reception for the worthy grand matron to be held Saturday evening, November 14, were nearing completion. The committees in charge of this occasion are, decorating, Mrs. R. F. Lilly, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. Leslie Pontius; registration, Mrs. Lucy B. Price, and Mrs. W. B. Cady; hostess, Mrs. Noah Spangler and Mrs. George Foerst; refreshments following musical, Mrs. Edward Helwagen, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Floyd Hook; dining room, Mrs. A. J. Lyle, assisted by ten members of the chapter; reception, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. Harry Stevenson, Mrs. Edith Monroe of Portsmouth, Mrs. Carl Bennett, Miss Virginia Marion and Mrs. E. S. Shane.

FROCK PROVES EASY TO MAKE, EASY TO WEAR
PATTERN 9088

Picture of a young lady about to make a good impression — and she's chosen the right frock, too! Easy to wear, easy to look at and easy to make, is Pattern 9088, and so chic and fashion-right that you'll want it made up in any number of different colors and fabrics. Why not stitch it up for "everyday" wear in cotton or wool challis, jersey or woolly cotton? Then for your "gala" events turn out a version in lustrous satin, velvet, or wool crepe? Fresh and "different" is the "rever" collar, (which may be accented by buttons or a novelty "tie"), and just see the Gibson Girl sleeves (you've been reading about them — here they are!) Very new, too, is the all-round flare of the skirt. Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9088 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 2½ yards 39 inch fabric.

to select new officers for the coming year. They are Mrs. Eva Dresbach, chairman, Mrs. George Jury and Mrs. George Steeley. On the calendar committee are Mrs. Clara Dresbach, Mrs. C. O. Kerns and Mrs. Lawrence Liston.

The meeting was turned over to the program committee, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Alda Bartley. They presented Mrs. C. O. Kerns in a reading entitled "Origin of Thanksgiving," and Mrs. Clara Dresbach in two numbers "An Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" and "An Old Fashioned Family." A most interesting number was an old sale bill read by Mrs. George Jury. It enumerated articles sold 77 years ago in Kentucky and listed among them a whiskey still and slaves. Next was a reading "Miss Hepsy's Blessings" by Mrs. John Miller.

A delicious buffet lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister Mrs. Eva Dresbach.

A Christmas party with a covered dish dinner is planned for the December meeting. Mrs. Harvey Dresbach, E. Main street, will be hostess.

Mrs. Caskey Hostess

Mrs. W. E. Caskey, E. High street, entertained members of her three table card club at her home Monday evening.

Ladies' Entertained

The home of Mrs. J. B. Throop, 84 Hamilton Park, Columbus, was the scene of a delightful luncheon, Tuesday noon, when she entertained a group of friends from Circleville and vicinity, honoring a former Circleville resident, Mrs. George Lewis of Chicago.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. Arthur L. Wilder, Mrs. Bernard Young, Mrs. Felix Caldwell, Miss Mary K. McCrady, Miss Irene Parrett, all of Circleville, Mrs. Stuart R. Ballin of Columbus, and Mrs. C. E. Wright of Harrison township.

Mr. and Mrs. List Hosts

Twenty members and guests were present to enjoy the regular meeting of the Young People's society of Christ Lutheran church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah List, Muhlenberg township, Tuesday evening.

Van Meter Hulce, president, led the devotional period and the short business meeting which followed. Nomination of officers to be elected at the next meeting was held.

There being no program arranged, the evening was spent in

The home of Mrs. J. B. Throop, 84 Hamilton Park, Columbus, was the scene of a delightful luncheon, Tuesday noon, when she entertained a group of friends from Circleville and vicinity, honoring a former Circleville resident, Mrs. George Lewis of Chicago.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. Arthur L. Wilder, Mrs. Bernard Young, Mrs. Felix Caldwell, Miss Mary K. McCrady, Miss Irene Parrett, all of Circleville, Mrs. Stuart R. Bolin of Columbus, and Mrs. C. E. Wright of Harrison township.

Mr. and Mrs. List Hosts

Twenty members and guests were present to enjoy the regular meeting of the Young People's society of Christ Lutheran church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah List, Muhlenberg township, Tuesday evening.

Van Meter Hulse, president, led the devotional period and the short business meeting which followed. Nomination of officers to be elected at the next meeting was held.

There being no program arranged, the evening was spent in games and contests. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served. The next regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter Hulse, Deercreek township, will be a Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Card Club Meets

Mrs. Russell Miller, W. Franklin street, was hostess to members of her card club, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ray P. Reid.

Following several rounds of auction bridge, prizes were awarded Mrs. M. S. Rinehart for high score and Mrs. C. G. Chalfin for second. Players enjoyed a salad course at the conclusion of the play.

Mrs. Armstrong Hostess

Mrs. Mark Armstrong, Park Place, was hostess to two tables of contract bridge Tuesday evening, at her home.

Several interesting rounds of play was enjoyed and when tallies were added, high score prize was awarded Mrs. Elmer Reger.

Mrs. Joe Burns, Pinckney street, will entertain the group next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. White Hostess

Mrs. Clyde White, W. Mill street, entertained members of the Yo-Yo sewing club at her home, Tuesday evening.

Sewing and a pleasant social time was enjoyed after which a tempting lunch was served in the dining room.

In two weeks, Miss Nellie Denman, E. Franklin street, will entertain the group.

Missionary Postponed

The meeting of the Missionary Society of St. Paul's Evangelical church, which is regularly scheduled for the second Thursday in the month, has been postponed one week, to meet November 19, at the home of Mrs. D. C. Heffner, Washington township.

Salem Ladies' Aid

Members of the Salem Ladies' Aid society will meet in the church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Loyal Daughters

The Loyal Daughters class of the United Brethren church held its monthly social meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Radcliff, Abernethy avenue, Tuesday evening.

The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Estella Mavis. The program in keeping with the Thanksgiving holiday, consisted of several interesting readings and special songs by a newly formed quartet, the members being Mrs. Martha Radcliff, Mrs. Lida Ross, Mrs. Thelma Goldsberry and Mrs. Mavis.

After the business session, conducted by the president, contests were introduced. The lucky winners were Miss Carrie LeMaster, Miss Gladys Noggle and Miss Fisher.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Wava Poling and Mrs. Radcliff to forty members and guests.

Robtown Ladies' Aid

The Robtown Ladies' Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Earl Hott, Scioto township. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. J. R. and Mrs. Harry Hott, and Mrs. W. S. Carpenter of Columbus.

Emmitt's Chapel Aid

At a recent meeting of the Emmitt's Chapel Ladies' Aid society attended by 26 members and 13 children, it was decided to install a new hot air furnace in the church.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Boggs, Pickaway township. She will be assisted by Mrs. D. C. Rader and Mrs. Evan Boggs.

Personals

Father James M. Kirwin, of Port Arthur, Texas, arrived Tuesday evening for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kirwin, S. Court street. Pat Kirwin of Cincinnati, who came home for the week-end remained over and met his brother in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. May, S. Court street, are leaving Thursday for Buffalo, N. Y., for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Hosterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and William Radcliff were among those attending the national corn husking contest near Newark, Tuesday.

Mrs. George Lewis, of Chicago, is the house guest of Miss Irene Parrett, W. Franklin street. Mrs.

Lewis was formerly Miss Clara Lewis and resided in Circleville for several years.

Miss Martha Leist, Watt street, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Raper in Columbus.

Will Anderson, of Clarksburg, former corn husking champion, was a Circleville business visitor Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hall, Logan street, attended the corn husking contest near Newark, Tuesday.

VEAL FIESTAS

One and one-half pounds veal steak
One teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Two tablespoons flour
Four tablespoons Crisco
Three large onions, sliced
One-half cup chili sauce
One and one-half cups hot water
One-half cup grated cheese
One and one-half cups cooked macaroni

Have veal cut in six very thin slices. Season, and dredge in flour. Heat skillet and add Crisco. Fry veal, briskly until brown on both sides. Cover with onions. Add chili sauce and hot water then cover skillet and transfer to a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) or cook slowly over burner about 30 minutes. Remove cover and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake until cheese melts. Remove veal to platter. Put cooked macaroni in skillet and stir in gravy until heated. Remove macaroni and serve as a border around the veal fiestas.

PATTERN 5728

Behold the decorative richness of this lovely crochet! Then see the single "pattern" medallion, that, repeated, goes to make up dainty accessories for your home. It's really a tatting design only it goes much faster. Lacy as snow crystals, yet durable as iron, these are made of inexpensive string, or, if finer ones are desired, mercerized crochet cotton. A chair set, quickly made from these, is a most acceptable gift, as is also a dollie or buffet set. In pattern 5728 you will find instructions for making the medallion and joining it to make a variety of articles; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used.

OHIO STATE FAVORED TO DEFEAT ILLINOIS IN TRADITIONAL GAME

SCHMIDT LOOKS AT TEAM, NOT YEAR'S RECORD

Buckeye Coach Uncertain of Starting Lineup at Champaign

JOE WILLIAMS IS OUT

Season's Marks Find Two Crews About Even

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — An Ohio State seasonal record that shows defeats in three major games today was sufficiently good to over balance the accomplishments of a University of Illinois combine and assure the Bucks of the favorite's post when the eleven meet at Champaign Saturday.

Illinois has a record of three victories, two setbacks and one tie on its 1936 chart.

The triumphs were at the expense of little DePaul University of Chicago, Washington University of St. Louis and Michigan. The Illini was turned back by Southern California and Northwestern and held to a scoreless tie by an impotent Iowa combine.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt was inclined to discount the record of Bob Zuppke's eleven and drilled his charges for what he believes will be one of the toughest contests of the campaign.

The Bucks practically are certain of starting the same experienced line that has received the call in all engagements thus far, but Schmidt was uncertain what his backfield combination would be.

The Ohio coach has juggled his running quartet frequently this week and is still undecided on his starting choices. All the Buck backs with the exception of "Jumpy" Joe Williams have come in for heavy work.

Williams injured a shoulder against Notre Dame and then re-hurt it last week against Chicago. He has been used sparingly in practice drills this week.

ILLINOIS LOSES VARSITY TACKLE FOR OHIO GAME

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Illinois stepped up its preparations for Ohio State with a stiff drill on offense and defense. Chuck Stotz, first string left tackle, will be out for the season because of a broken foot bone. Harry Lasata moved from center to Stotz's post, leaving only Clarence Polaski to replace El Sayre at center.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Indiana has two backfield combinations to use against Chicago Saturday. One was composed of Norton, Filchuck, Oliver and Graham; the other included Anderson, Cavacini, Tanner and Whitman. The Hoosiers ran through a dummy scrimmage.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Chicago turned to defense tactics as the varsity scrimmaged the freshmen using Indiana plays. Jay Berwanger, 1935 Maroon All-American and now assistant coach, played in the backfield for the yearlings.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Notre Dame went through its last workout in home territory before leaving for New York to meet Army Saturday. Kicking was emphasized.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Purdue drilled hard on defense, with special attention to tackling and blocking. Coach Noble Kizer sent the team through a short scrimmage with the freshmen who used Iowa plays.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Northwestern Wildcats are prowling the path of the mythical national gridiron title, but lurking ahead are two football foes with revenge in their hearts—Michigan and Notre Dame.

Sooner or later every team gets a chance to atone for a heart-breaking football defeat. Michigan has waited 11 years to get its chance at Northwestern, Notre Dame has waited but one.

The luck of the 1926 schedule has exactly reversed the positions of Northwestern and Michigan as they met in combat at Soldier Field back in 1927. Then Michigan, with its great forward passing combination of Benny Friedman and Benny Oosterbaan, had one of the nation's greatest teams and came to Chicago with an unbeaten, untied record. Northwestern had been beaten by Chicago and Tulane.

Northwestern battled through the mud to upset Michigan, 3-2, for one of the bitterest defeats ever suffered by the Wolverines. The Wildcats kicked an early field goal, and then staved off many Michigan threats. Tim Lowry, Northwestern captain, finally made certain of victory by giving the Wolverines a deliberate safety late in the game.

Now Michigan, beaten by Michigan State, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois and Pennsylvania, faces Northwestern Saturday at Ann Ar-

Undergraduates Beat Seniors in Thriller

Two passes to Dave Jackson for points after touchdown proved the margin of victory Tuesday evening when the high school underclassmen defeated the seniors in a thrilling 14-12 game. The underclassmen vs. the seniors is an annual contest.

Both the seniors' touchdowns were scored on pass interceptions, while passes to Liston and Jackson accounted for those scored by the undergrads.

Twice the frosh-soph-juniors forced the seniors for downs inside the 10-yard stripe.

Friday, the Tigers close their season with a game at Waverly. The Pike county crew, with its offensive welded around a strong passing attack, has knocked aside all contestants this year, but Coach Jack Landrum and his boys are confident of being able to knock off the team. Waverly defeated McArthur by one point more than did the Tigers. Greenfield, Hillsboro and several other usually good schools are on the list of Waverly victims.

The Tigers are in perfect condition for the encounter and are carrying high hopes with them.

Another interesting football game was scheduled on the high school field Wednesday afternoon with the eighth and seventh grades competing. A weight limit has been placed on the eighth graders, thus giving the seventh graders a better chance, since several of the upper-class boys are big enough to be varsity material.

ETTORE BEGINS LONG TREK BACK FROM OBLIVION

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Al Ettore, blond Philadelphia Italian, makes his first comeback attempt since being knocked out by Joe Louis tonight when he tangles with Arturo Godoy of Chile at the Hippodrome.

Godoy was a slight underdog in the betting because of Ettore's victories over Leroy Haynes, Philadelphia negro.

GOULD BLASTS RUMORS ABOUT JIM BRADDOCK

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Joe Gould, dapper little manager of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock, spiked today rumors that he planned an exhibition tour for the champion with a vigorous denial to the New York State Athletic Commission.

"Braddock is training in Hot Springs and will not fight anybody until he is pronounced physically fit by boxing commission doctors," Gould said. "The announcement by a New Orleans promoter that Braddock was to box an exhibition match against Jack McCarthy of Boston Nov. 16 is entirely false."

WEISS MAY START MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—(UP)—Howard Weiss may start for Wisconsin's Eddie Jankowski at fullback Saturday against Cincinnati. Jankowski was handicapped by an ankle injury.

KINGSTON

Mrs. W. R. Sunderland very delightfully entertained the members of her bridge club and a group of guests on Thursday evening at a six o'clock dinner at the Ada Dreisbach party home on Oak street. The pleasure of the evening was prolonged by the playing of contract following the delicious dinner. Those present were Mrs. J. P. Gardner, Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach, Mrs. Egbert Freshour, Mrs. Carson Dreisbach, Mrs. R. E. Lightner, Mrs. Robert Brundige, Mrs. Robert Cryder, Mrs. G. W. McGinnis, Mrs. May McCullough, Mrs. E. H. Artman, Mrs. R. M. GOPHERS STAND PAT

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Minnesota had a short workout on a frozen field and a longer drill indoors. Coach Bernie Bierman indicated that the line up used in the Iowa game probably would face the Texas Longhorns Saturday.

About This And That In Many Sports

Gilmore's Roommate

A sophomore, of whom Western Conference football fans may hear a lot in the next few years, is favored to start doing a lot of work for Harry Kipke's Michiganders — He is Wally Hook. Hook can pass, kick and run — He is the roommate of Horace Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gilmore, S. Court street. ***

Fall Sports Begin

Fall and Winter sports promise to keep Circleville fans busy — Bowling has already started to grasp its followers; the Boosters' football team is in action, and providing real entertainment; boxing-wrestling matches are starting in the Athletic Club gymnasium next Monday; the rifle and pistol club has its meeting Thursday evening in preparation for a busy winter. The high school will start playing basketball in a few short weeks, and the county schedule will be under way before that — There is still room for an independent cage league, and a possibility that there may be one. ***

Chevigny on Way

Coach Jack Chevigny, former Notre Dame halfback, will not be an applicant for his University of Texas job next year — Chevigny is under fire. ***

Wildcats on Top

Northwestern, by virtue of its mud-hole 6-0 victory over Minnesota, remains on top the heap in AP gridiron ratings, topping the Gophers by a 16-point margin — The Bierman-men are in second spot and Fordham trails in third, with Alabama fourth — Pitt, Nebraska, Louisiana, Marquette, Santa Clara and Washington fill the remaining spots in the first high score, Mrs. Nelson Sutherland was awarded the trophy for the guests and Mrs. Robert Brundige won the traveling prize.

Just Grid Game

A football game that always holds a lot of interest in Ohio will be just a drab affair this year, although the outcome may have something to do with the BAA title — It brings Ohio U. against Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware. This game is a natural, but fair-to-middling showings of both schools has resulted in a let-down in interest. ***

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Meadows and family moved this week into the O. B. Merriman house on South Main street from the C. L. Patrick house which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland and daughter Janice will be the week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Sunderland and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Brown of Dayton, Ohio.

The Kingston Garden Club will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. P. Gardner with Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach and Miss Katherine L. Brundige assistant hostesses. A good attendance is urged.

Dwight N. Famulener joined a group of Ford dealers in Columbus on Thursday night to go to Detroit, Mich. to attend a convention for Ford dealers. He expects to be back Sunday.

Hazel Borland and son, George Waite and son, Mrs. Harvey Large, T. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Lehman B. Rounte and son, Mrs. Nye Imnell and Misses Ada Merriman, Virginia Cobb and Martha Jane Bond. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Rounte was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Mary Terry, Mrs. Herman Williams and daughter Nancy Alice were business visitors to Chillicothe on Friday.

The World Friendship Circle Sunday School class of the Presbyterian church delightfully surprised one of the members, Mrs. Donald E. Whitel, a recent bride with a handkerchief shower on Tuesday evening at her home on West Pickaway street. A short business session was held during the evening with the president, Mrs. Alice Riegel presiding. Those present besides Mrs. Riegel were: Mrs. Carson Dreisbach, Mrs. R. E. Lightner, Mrs. Nelson Sutherland, Mrs. Edgar Hassoupl, Mrs. D. N. Famulener, Mrs. G. W. McGinnis, Mrs. Russell Wolfe, Mrs. Lloyd Evans, Mrs. W. A. Francis, Mrs. W. P. McPherson, Mrs. F. L. Haynes, Mrs. Neal Lauerman, Mrs. Robert Cryder and Misses Elizabeth Black, Louise Wood, Ruth Hempleman, Mary Romig, Alice McRoberts and Edith Shonk-wir. Pumpkin pie with ice cream and coffee was served.

The Kingston Chapter Order of Eastern Star will meet in a regular meeting on Tuesday evening November 10th in the Masonic Temple at 7:30 o'clock. On Monday evening there will be officers practice for initiation on Friday evening November 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin returned on Friday from a month's visit with relatives in Washington state.

Bayard Hisey of Cincinnati was calling upon friends in Kingston on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dann of Mansfield were visitors, on Sunday, at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright and Miss Adah Machir. Mr. Will Meyers and daughter Blanche of Stoutsville were additional visitors at the Wright home.

Carl Bailey of Raglan, West Va., was the week-end guest of Mrs. Eleanora Walters and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Walters.

A RECIPE FOR RESULTS

Here's how easy it is:

1. Decide what you want to say in your ad. Then write, leaving out unnecessary words.

2. CALL 783 if you have a phone or drop by the service desk, Herald office. Read your ad to the ad-taker. She will help you with it, perhaps shorten it, and then will read it back to you for O. K.

3. That's all... except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.

OHIO STATE FAVORED TO DEFEAT ILLINOIS IN TRADITIONAL GAME

SCHMIDT LOOKS AT TEAM, NOT YEAR'S RECORD

Buckeye Coach Uncertain of Starting Lineup at Champaign

JOE WILLIAMS IS OUT

Season's Marks Find Two Crews About Even

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — An Ohio State seasonal record that shows defeats in three major games today was sufficiently good to over balance the accomplishments of a University of Illinois combine and assure the Bucks of the favorite's post when the eleven meet at Champaign Saturday.

Illinois has a record of three victories, two setbacks and one tie on its 1936 chart.

The triumphs were at the expense of little DePaul University of Chicago, Washington University of St. Louis and Michigan. The Illinois was turned back by Southern California and Northwestern and held to a scoreless tie by an impotent Iowa combine.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt was inclined to discount the record of Bob Zuppke's eleven and drilled his charges for what he believes will be one of the toughest contests of the campaign.

The Bucks practically are certain of starting the same experienced line that has received the call in all engagements thus far, but Schmidt was uncertain what his backfield combination would be.

The Ohio coach has juggled his running quartets frequently this week and is still undecided on his starting choices. All the Buck backs with the exception of "Jumpin' Joe" Williams have come in for heavy work.

Williams injured a shoulder against Notre Dame and then re-hurt it last week against Chicago. He has been used sparingly in practice drills this week.

ILLINOIS LOSES VARSITY TACKLE FOR OHIO GAME

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Illinois stepped up its preparations for Ohio State with a stiff drill on offense and defense. Chuck Stotz, first string left tackle, will be out for the season because of a broken foot bone. Harry Lasater moved from center to Stotz's post, leaving only Clarence Polaski to replace El Sayre at center.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Indiana has two backfield combinations to use against Chicago Saturday. One was composed of Norton, Filchok, Oliver and Graham; the other included Anderson, Cavacini, Tanner and Whitman. The Hoosiers ran through a dummy scrimmage.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Chicago turned to defense tactics as the varsity scrimmaged the freshmen using Indiana plays. Jay Berwanger, 1935 Maroon All-American and now assistant coach, played in the backfield for the yearlings.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Notre Dame went through its last workout in home territory before leaving for New York to meet Army Saturday. Kicking was emphasized.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 11 — (UP) — Purdue drilled hard on defense, with special attention to tackling and blocking. Coach Noble Kizer sent the team through a short scrimmage with the freshmen who used Iowa plays.

Undergraduates Beat Seniors in Thriller

Two passes to Dave Jackson for points after touchdown proved the margin of victory Tuesday evening when the high school underclassmen defeated the seniors in a thrilling 14-12 game. The underclassmen vs. the seniors is an annual contest.

Both the seniors' touchdowns were scored on pass interceptions, while passes to Liston and Jackson accounted for those scored by the undergrads.

Twice the frosh-soph-juniors forced held the seniors for downs inside the 10-yard stripe.

Friday, the Tigers close their season with a game at Waverly. The Pike county crew, with its offensive welded around a strong passing attack, has knocked aside all contestants this year, but Coach Jack Landrum and his boys are confident of being able to knock off the team. Waverly defeated McArthur by one point more than did the Tigers. Greenfield, Hillsboro and several other usually good schools are on the list of Waverly victims.

The Tigers are in perfect condition for the encounter and are carrying high hopes with them.

Another interesting football game was scheduled on the high school field Wednesday afternoon with the eighth and seventh grades competing. A weight limit has been placed on the eighth grade crew, thus giving the seventh graders a better chance, since several of the upper-class boys are big enough to be varsity material.

ETTORE BEGINS LONG TREK BACK FROM OBLIVION

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — (UP) — Al Ettore, blond Philadelphia Italian, makes his first comeback attempt since being knocked out by Joe Louis tonight when he tangles with Arturo Godoy of Chile at the Hippodrome.

Godoy was a slight underdog in the betting because of Ettore's victories over Leroy Haynes, Philadelphia negro.

A terrific force on defense and adept at snagging passes, Tinsley truly rates as one of the south's stars. He has added 10 pounds to his 1935 weight of 195 and his play this year has overlapped that of 1935. He was unanimous choice for All-Southern last year. Try and keep him off anybody's All-American this year.

BIRD DOG CLUB TRIAL DRAWING OPENS THURSDAY

Drawings for the open stakes of the annual fall field trials of the Pickaway County Bird Dog club to be held at Yellowbud, Nov. 13, 14 and 15, will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the New American hotel. Those for the amateur stakes will be held Friday at the same hour.

Events include the open all-age, open derby, amateur derby and amateur all-age. The stakes will be run in the order named. Ollie Neymeier, Prospect, and Jessie Knapp, Portsmouth, are judges.

SHIKAT IS WINNER

COLUMBUS — Dick Shikat, Germany, pinned Tiger Daula, India; Jim Morris, Nashville, Tenn., won on foul from "Roughhouse" Nelson, Tulsa, Okla.; Frank Buresh, Australia, pinned Walter Scott, Rochester, N. Y.; Paul Shikat, Germany, pinned Leo Jensen, Denmark.

GOPHERS STAND PAT

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11 — (UP) — Minnesota had a short workout on a frozen field and a longer drill indoors. Coach Bernie Bierman indicated that the line up used in the Iowa game probably would face the Texas Longhorns Saturday.

Wolverines, Irish Seek Revenge

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. — (UP) — The Northwestern Wildcats are prowling the path of the mythical national gridiron title, but lurking ahead are two football foes with revenge in their hearts—Michigan and Notre Dame.

Sooner or later every team gets a chance to atone for a heart-breaking football defeat. Michigan has waited 11 years to get its chance at Northwestern, Notre Dame has waited but one.

The luck of the 1936 schedule has exactly reversed the positions of Northwestern and Michigan as they met in combat at Soldier Field back in 1925. Then Michigan, with its most forward passing combina-

About This And That In Many Sports

Gilmore's Roommate

A sophomore, of whom Western Conference football fans may hear a lot in the next few years, is favored to start doing a lot of work for Harry Kipke's Michigans — He is Wally Hook — Hook can pass, kick and run — He is the roommate of Horace Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gilmore, S. Court street. ***

Fall Sports Begin

Fall and Winter sports promise to keep Circleville fans busy — Bowling has already started to grasp its followers; the Boosters' football team is in action, and providing real entertainment; boxing-wrestling matches are starting in the Athletic Club gymnasium next Monday; the rifle and pistol club has its meeting Thursday evening in preparation for a busy winter — The high school will start playing basketball in a few short weeks, and the county schedule will be under way before that — There is still room for an independent cage league, and a possibility that there may be one. ***

Cheigny on Way

Coach Jack Cheigny, former Notre Dame halfback, will not be an applicant for his University of Texas job next year — Cheigny is under fire. ***

Wildcats on Top

Northwestern, by virtue of its mud-hole 6-0 victory over Minnesota, remains on top the heap in AP gridiron ratings, topping the Gophers by a 16-point margin — The Bierman-men are in second spot and Fordham trails in third, with Alabama fourth — Pitt, Nebraska, Louisiana, Marquette, Santa Clara and Washington fill the remaining spots in the first high score, Mrs. Nelson Sutherland was awarded the trophy, for the guests and Mrs. Robert Brundige won the traveling prize.

Just Grid Game

A football game that always holds a lot of interest in Ohio will be just a drab affair this year, although the outcome may have something to do with the BAA title — It brings Ohio U. against Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware — This game is a natural, but fair-to-middling showings of both schools has resulted in a let-down in interest. ***

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Meadows and family moved this week into the O. B. Merriman house on South Main street from the C. L. Patrick house which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland and daughter Janice will be the week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Sunderland and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Brown of Dayton, Ohio.

The Kingston Garden Club will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. P. Gardner with Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach and Miss Katherine L. Brundige assistant hostesses. A good attendance is urged.

Hazel Borland and son, George Waite and son, Mrs. Harvey Large, T. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Lehman B. Roulte and son, Mr. and Mrs. Nye Immell and Misses Ada Merriman, Virginia Cobb and Martha Jane Bond. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Roulte was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Mary Terry, Mrs. Herman Williams and daughter Nancy Alice were business visitors to Chillicothe on Friday.

The World Friendship Circle Sunday School class of the Presbyterian church delightfully surprised one of the members, Mrs. Donald E. Whitel, a recent bride with a handkerchief shower on Tuesday evening at her home on West Pickaway street. A short business session was held during the evening with the president, Mrs. Alice Riegel presiding. Those present besides Mrs. Riegel were: Mrs. Carson Dresbach, Mrs. R. E. Lightner, Mrs. Nelson Sutherland, Mrs. Edgar Hasseplu, Mrs. D. N. Famulener, Mrs. G. W. McGinnis, Mrs. Russell Wolfe, Mrs. Lloyd Evans, Mrs. W. A. Francis, Mrs. W. P. McPherson, Mrs. F. L. Haynes, Mrs. Neal Lanerman, Mrs. Robert Cryder and Misses Elizabeth Black, Louise Wood, Ruth Hempleman, Mary Romig, Alice McRoberts and Edith Shonk-wiler. Pumpkin pie with ice cream and coffee was served.

The Kingston Chapter Order of Eastern Star will meet in a regular meeting on Tuesday evening November 10th in the Masonic Temple at 7:30 o'clock. On Monday evening there will be officers' practice for initiation on Friday evening November 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin returned on Friday from a month's visit with relatives in Washington state.

Bayard Hissey of Cincinnati was calling upon friends in Kingston on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dann of Mansfield were visitors, on Sunday, at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright and Miss Adah Mach-will. Mr. Will Meyers and daughter Blanche of Stoutsville were additional visitors at the Wright home.

Carl Bailey of Raglan, West Va., was the week-end guest of Mrs. Earn Walters and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Walters.

A RECIPE FOR RESULTS

If you want to hire a maid, rent a room, lease your home, sell your furniture, get rid of your car, find a partner, sell your business, recover a lost dog, engage a typist there is a sure, quick and economical way to do it. Use Herald Want Ads. ONE DAY—2 Cents a word THREE DAYS—4 Cents a Word SIX DAYS—7 Cents a Word

Here's how easy it is:

1. Decide what you want to say in your ad. Then write, leaving out unnecessary words.
2. CALL 782 if you have a phone or drop by the service desk, Herald office. Read your ad to the ad-taker. She will help you with it, perhaps shorten it, and then will read it back to you for O. K.
3. That's all... except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A TOP SCORE

IN A MIXED pair duplicate, only Mrs. N. N. Newman and Mr. F. E. Slater both bid and made 5 Spades on the following deal, although all North players bid at least game at spades. Mr. Slater played the hand.

Hand:

♠ A Q J 4 2
♥ Q 9 5 4
♦ None
♣ A K 10 5

♠ 8 7 7
♥ J 10 8 7
♦ Q 7 4
♣ Q J 4

The opening lead against Mr. Slater was the 9 of spades. His J won the trick. The Ace of hearts took the next trick. Declarer regained his own hand with its K of clubs. He decided to have dummy ruff three hearts, unless the K fell earlier in play, which was improbable. If he could establish a long club, his small slam appeared safe.

At the fourth trick dummy ruffed a heart. Declarer regained his hand by means of a second club lead, and dummy ruffed another heart. Declarer ruffed one of dummy's diamonds. Declarer led his last heart and ruffed with dummy's last spade. Declarer still held the A-Q-4 of spades. He could not afford to ruff another diamond, so he led dummy's third club. That suit broke, and East was in lead at the ninth trick, having left in his hand only the Q-7 of diamonds and the 8-7 of trumps. Now declarer could not fail to fulfill his contract, having a good club and three good trumps. East led a diamond. Declarer ruffed, picked up both of East's trumps, then led his good club.

Several North players did not have an opening lead of a trump, but that could make no difference in the final results. It is obvious that an opening lead of either a heart or a club, provided in the later instance an honor was led, would enable North to employ tactics similar to those used by Mr. Slater. An opening lead of a diamond would, however, cause entirely different tactics to make the small slam.

Play out the hand with an opening lead of a diamond. Declarer must ruff. Put dummy in lead with its Ace of hearts. Regain declarer's hand by means of its K of clubs. Have dummy ruff a heart. Regain declarer's hand by means of his Ace of clubs. Let dummy ruff another heart. Have declarer ruff a diamond. Use dummy's K or 10 of spades to ruff declarer's last heart. Give East his first and last trick by leading a losing club. Have East lead his last diamond, which declarer must ruff. Dummy will ruff declarer's last club and East will underlead. The two last tricks must go to declarer's Ace and Q of spades.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A TOP SCORE
IN A MIXED pair duplicate, only Mrs. N. N. Newman and Mr. F. E. Slater both bid and made 5-Spades on the following deal, although all North players bid at least game at spades. Mr. Slater played the hand.

♠ A Q J 4 2
 ♥ Q 9 5 4
 ♦ None
 ♣ A K 10 5

 ♥ K 6 3 2
 ♦ A J 10 5

♠ 9 8 7
 ♥ J 10 8 7
 ♦ Q 7 4
 ♣ Q J 4

♠ K 10 6 3
 ♥ A
 ♦ K 9 8 6 2
 ♣ 8 7 3

The opening lead against Mr. Slater was the 9 of spades. His J won the trick. The Ace of hearts took the next trick. Declarer regained his own hand with its K of clubs. He decided to have dummy ruff three hearts, unless the K fell earlier in play, which was improbable. If he could establish a long club, his small slam appeared safe.

At the fourth trick dummy ruffed a heart. Declarer regained his hand by means of a second club lead, and dummy ruffed another heart. Declarer ruffed one of dummy's diamonds. Declarer led his last heart and ruffed with dummy's last spade. Declarer still held the A-Q-4 of spades. He could not afford to ruff another diamond, so he led dummy's third club. That suit broke, and East was in lead at the ninth trick, having left in his hand only the Q-7 of diamonds and the 8-7 of trumps.

Now declarer could not fail to fulfill his contract, having a good club and three good trumps. East led a diamond. Declarer ruffed, picked up both of East's trumps, then led his good club.

Now declarers did not have an opening lead of a trump, but that could make no difference in the final results. It is obvious that an opening lead of either a heart or a club, provided in the latter instance an honor was led, would enable North to employ tactics similar to those used by Mr. Slater. An opening lead of a diamond would, however, cause entirely different tactics to make the small slam.

With the hand with an opening lead of a diamond, Declarer must ruff. Put dummy in lead with its Ace of hearts. Regain declarer's hand by means of its K of clubs. Have dummy ruff a heart. Regain declarer's hand by means of his Ace of clubs. Let dummy ruff another heart. Have declarer ruff a diamond. Use dummy's K or 10 of spades to ruff declarer's last heart. Give East his first and last trick by leading a heart. Have East lead his first diamond, which declarer must ruff. Dummy will ruff declarer's last club and East will undertruff. The two last tricks must go to declarer's Ace and Q of spades.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLANS NOON MEETINGS TO REVIVE INTEREST

MONDAY NAMED FOR SESSIONS OF MERCHANTS

Small Groups Present For Tuesday Conference; Wallace Speaks

MUCH BUSINESS ARRANGED

Pumpkin Show Lights May Be Removed in Short Time

In an effort to revive interest in the Chamber of Commerce and take care of a long list of proposed civic improvements and important business, a group of members Tuesday night made arrangements for luncheon meetings to be held every Monday in Hanley's tea room.

The attendance at the meeting Tuesday night was so small the group confined the time largely to a discussion of means to draw larger crowds.

"We have many important items on our list that are of vital interest to every business man in this city," W. E. Wallace, president of the organization told members. "If I have a job to do I want to do it and accomplish something. I don't like the attitude of some of the merchants. They refuse to attend meetings and immediately afterward they want to know what happened and ride along on a free band wagon. We can make Circleville the best business town in the county if we receive cooperation from merchants."

Start at 12 Noon

The luncheon meetings are to start at 12 noon and will be finished by 1 p. m. Members expect to have brief addresses by representatives of various firms on modern merchandising methods and salesmanship. Cards will be sent out announcing the weekly meetings. No tickets will be sold. Among the important items before the Chamber of Commerce at the present time are Christmas decorations and lights, boulevard lights, traffic, especially fast driving in Circleville, establishment of a building code, and a plan to replace trees removed from Circleville streets.

Unless some immediate arrangements are made merchants will not have the Pumpkin Show lights for the Christmas season, members reported. The lights were installed for temporary use, they were told, and if they are to be kept up for the holiday season, funds will be needed to make them more secure. In addition merchants will be expected to provide insurance.

Print Welcome Signs

Nathan Groban, president of the Retail Merchants' association, reported he would arrange to have welcome signs printed for Circleville stores for the district Eastern Star meeting to be held here Saturday. Between 300 to 400 persons from throughout Ohio are expected at the meeting.

POLICE PROBING VANDALS' WORK IN CEMETERY

Police were conducting investigations Wednesday to learn who damaged 18 monuments in the old High street cemetery and broke two light globes on the Pickaway street bridge.

Officers believed the monuments were damaged on Halloween. They were pushed over and several broken. Target rifles or air guns are blamed for the bridge damage.

Chief William McCrady warned boys it is unlawful to shoot rifles or airguns in the city limits and those caught will be prosecuted. Under the law, children under 17 are not permitted to have guns and those who furnish them with guns are subject to prosecution.

JUDGES TO RULE ON VALIDITY OF NEW YORK LAW

Unemployment Section Draws Fire From Three Firms; Hearing Starts

from which pensions will be paid starting in 1942, to contributing workers reaching 65 years.

Three companies—W. H. H. Chamberlin, Inc.; E. C. Stearns & Co. and Associated Industries of New York state—are attacking the New York unemployment compensation program. Their argument, in brief, will be:

That the section violates the 14th constitutional amendment because of their contention it taxes one class to benefit another; they declare it discriminatory because every employer pays the same levy instead of on the basis of unemployment in his plant or office.

The government will defend the plan backed by a 5-to-2 decision of the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, that the state's measure is constitutional. The federal answer to the attack will be:

That the tax is a proper, legal charge on industry; the levy must be the same for all now because there is no information available on which varying rates could be determined; there is an economic need for the system to aid in making the country slump-proof in event of another depression.

Government attorneys see four possible decisions from the U. S. Supreme court. They are:

1. Uphold the entire act. Such action would give impetus to the drive to bring all states into the plan.
2. Rule the law unconstitutional. That decision would indicate that almost all forms of social insurance are invalid at the present time.
3. Outlaw the measure on the sole ground the New York statute does not assess taxes of varying rates. This defect could be remedied in each political subdivision.
4. Refuse to decide the case because the New York decision was a "declaratory judgment" or an advisory opinion. Such action would merely delay a supreme court test.

PROCLAMATION PRAISES WORK OF RED CROSS

THE annual roll call for the American Red Cross will begin on Armistice Day, November 11th, and end of Thanksgiving Day.

There is little need for me to remind citizens of our community how vital the Red Cross is in the life of our country. During the last year, both from actual observation and from the accounts of work done which were carried in daily newspapers, we have seen just how important it is that we have an active agency of the American people to administer assistance when the need arises.

The frequency with which this need does arise has been demonstrated during the past twelve months when we recall the floods, the tornadoes, the hurricanes, and the epidemics that have been suffered in various parts of this great country, and the work that the Red Cross has done to relieve distress and actual suffering as a result of these catastrophes. Other but less spectacular work carried on by the Red Cross has been just as important.

The Red Cross comes to us now with another appeal for membership dues that will finance the work during the year ahead. Our Red Cross asks little from the community, yet contributes much to the general welfare of our people.

For this reason, I sincerely urge those who are asked to participate in this great program by paying the relatively small membership to respond in a spirit of good neighborliness. I hope all will take part in the work by becoming members of the society.

It gives me great pleasure, therefore, as mayor of Circleville, to hereby set aside the designated period as the time when all past members will be asked to renew their membership and for those who have not enrolled before to add their names to the ranks of Red Cross members in our community.

265 TAKE PART IN GOOD WILL DINNER TUESDAY

Two hundred and sixty-five persons attended the Trinity Lutheran church congregational Good Will banquet Tuesday evening in the parish house. The Rev. G. L. Troutman acted as toastmaster.

The various speakers were introduced by means of appropriate pictures projected on slides. These represented them in the various activities of the financial program of the church.

The guest speaker, The Rev. William Sott, stewardship secretary of the American Lutheran church, spoke on "Christian Giving."

Dr. G. J. Troutman, senior pastor of the church, spoke briefly on "Christian Fellowship," declaring Mr. and Mrs. Grouch, Mr. and Mrs. Do Little and Mr. and Mrs. I. Don't Care were not present, but that Mr. and Mrs. Willing and Mr. and Mrs. Cheer were.

Several members of the church had important parts during the evening. John C. Goeller, treasurer of the congregation, gave a few facts on the success of the new financial program; Durward Dowden, in charge of the Pence Box offering, gave an encouraging report, showing that already close to $2,000 had been cancelled off the church debt; Carl Leist delivered a surprise package containing checks amounting to $465 a gift of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon. W. E. Crist, chairman of the building committee, accepted the gift, which will be used to further cancel the church debt.

John D. Hummel, using a blackboard and chalk, presented the 1937 budget, approved by the church council. Mr. Hummel called for five cents or more weekly increases.

The entire program was interspersed by group singing. General chairman for the banquet was Clarence Helvering, while Mrs. Ed Sensenbrenner and Mrs. John Hummel were dinner chairmen, and Miss Dora Hunt, Mrs. Denny Pickens, and Mrs. Charles Diehlman were in charge of the dining room.

A commission service will be held next Sunday at 10 a. m. at which time 60 solicitors will be sent out to contact the remaining members of the congregation for their subscriptions for 1937.

STATE SPONSORS MARKING TO END POULTRY THEFTS

FARGO, N. D. (UP)—A new system of marking flocks of chickens in North Dakota is designed to put an end to chicken stealing.

The plan involves the marking of flocks and recording the mark with the state poultry association and the state department of agriculture.

O. A. Barton, secretary of the poultry association and member of the North Dakota Agricultural College poultry department, explains the plan as follows:

Each producer selects his own method of marking and obtains his own marking equipment. The poultry may be marked by the punches in the web of either foot; by tattoo marks or initials on either wing; by initialed, sealed wing bands on either wing; or by initialed leg bands on either shank.

TWO MEN FINED, JAILED
Charges against Charles Ramsey, 28, Circleville, and Howard Conley, 33, of Salt Lake, Ky., were reduced from robbery to petit larceny Wednesday afternoon. They pleaded guilty and were fined $200 and costs each and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge J. W. Adkins.

Leeman Huston, 39, of Tarlton, arrested with Crawford, was fined $100 and costs by the mayor on a drunkenness charge. They were arrested early Monday after police found a jug containing about two gallons of liquor, a burner and an empty keg in their auto.

TRIO FINED FOR VIOLATING OHIO HUNTING LAWS

Three men were fined in H. O. Eveland's justice of peace court Tuesday night and Wednesday morning for game law violations. Francis Snider, residing near Whisler, was fined $10 and costs for illegal possession of a muskrat pet. He gave bond to settle his account.

Pearl Carpenter, 19, Logan street, and Harry Moore, 21, S. Court street, were fined $25 and costs each for hunting rabbits during the closed season and hunting without licenses. They were fined on each charge. Both were committed to the county jail. The violations took place in Saltcreek township.

The arrests were made by Clarence Francis, county game officer, and Carl Blosser, of Logan, who has been assigned here to assist Mr. Francis.

JUDGES TO RULE ON VALIDITY OF NEW YORK LAW

Unemployment Section Draws Fire From Three Firms; Hearing Starts

from which pensions will be paid starting in 1942, to contributing workers reaching 65 years.

Three companies—W. H. H. Chamberlin, Inc.; E. C. Stearns & Co. and Associated Industries of New York state—are attacking the New York unemployment compensation program. Their argument, in brief, will be:

That the section violates the 14th constitutional amendment because of their contention it taxes one class to benefit another; they declare it discriminatory because every employer pays the same levy instead of on the basis of unemployment in his plant or office.

The government will defend the plan backed by a 5-to-2 decision of the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, that the state's measure is constitutional. The federal answer to the attack will be:

That the tax is a proper, legal charge on industry; the levy must be the same for all now because there is no information available on which varying rates could be determined; there is an economic need for the system to aid in making the country slump-proof in event of another depression.

Government attorneys see four possible decisions from the U. S. Supreme court. They are:

1. Uphold the entire act. Such action would give impetus to the drive to bring all states into the plan.
2. Rule the law unconstitutional. That decision would indicate that almost all forms of social insurance are invalid at the present time.
3. Outlaw the measure on the sole ground the New York statute does not assess taxes of varying rates. This defect could be remedied in each political subdivision.
4. Refuse to decide the case because the New York decision was a "declaratory judgment" or an advisory opinion. Such action would merely delay a supreme court test.

WIDOW LIVES IN HOUSE THAT "JACKS" BUILT

WOBURN, Mass. (UP) — Mrs. J. E. Mason lives in a house that "Jacks" built.

Mrs. Mason has moved into a new home, built entirely by neighbors and with materials donated by individuals and firms in the city, after spending more than 12 years in an old shack.

Carpenters, plumbers, bricklayers, electricians and truckmen completed the small bungalow in the evenings after finishing their regular day's work.

After the death of her husband last July, Mrs. Mason was left penniless, so sympathetic neighbors decided to erect a new home adjacent to her old shack.

PROCLAMATION PRAISES WORK OF RED CROSS

THE annual roll call for the Pickaway Chapter of the American Red Cross will begin on Armistice Day, November 11th, and end of Thanksgiving Day.

There is little need for me to remind citizens of our community how vital the Red Cross is in the life of our country. During the last year, both from actual observation and from the accounts of work done which were carried in daily newspapers, we have seen just how important it is that we have an active agency of the American people to administer assistance when the need arises.

The frequency with which this need does arise has been demonstrated during the past twelve months when we recall the floods, the tornadoes, the hurricanes, and the epidemics that have been suffered in various parts of this great country, and the work that the Red Cross has done to relieve distress and actual suffering as a result of these catastrophes. Other but less spectacular work carried on by the Red Cross has been just as important.

The Red Cross comes to us now with another appeal for membership dues that will finance the work during the year ahead. Our Red Cross asks little from the community, yet contributes much to the general welfare of our people.

For this reason, I sincerely urge those who are asked to participate in this great program by paying the relatively small membership to respond in a spirit of good neighborliness. I hope all will take part in the work by becoming members of the society.

It gives me great pleasure, therefore, as mayor of Circleville, to hereby set aside the designated period as the time when all past members will be asked to renew their membership and for those who have not enrolled before to add their names to the ranks of Red Cross members in our community.

265 TAKE PART IN GOOD WILL DINNER TUESDAY

Two hundred and sixty-five persons attended the Trinity Lutheran church congregational Good Will banquet Tuesday evening in the parish house. The Rev. G. L. Troutman acted as toastmaster.

The various speakers were introduced by means of appropriate pictures projected on slides. These represented them in the various activities of the financial program of the church.

The guest speaker, The Rev. William Sodi, stewardship secretary of the American Lutheran church, spoke on "Christian Giving."

Dr. G. J. Troutman, senior pastor of the church, spoke briefly on "Christian Fellowship," declaring Mr. and Mrs. Grouch, Mr. and Mrs. Do Little and Mr. and Mrs. I Don't Care were not present, but that Mr. and Mrs. Willing and Mr. and Mrs. Cheer were.

Several members of the church had important parts during the evening. John C. Goeller, treasurer of the congregation, gave a few facts on the success of the new financial program; Durward Dowden, in charge of the Pence Box offering, gave an encouraging report, showing that already close to $2,000 had been cancelled off the church debt; Carl Leist delivered a surprise package containing checks amounting to $465 a gift of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon. W. E. Crist, chairman of the building committee, accepted the gift, which will be used to further cancel the church debt.

John D. Hummel, using a blackboard and chalk, presented the 1937 budget, approved by the church council. Mr. Hummel called for five cents or more weekly increases.

The entire program was interspersed by group singing.

General chairman for the banquet was Clarence Helvering, while Mrs. Ed Sensenbrenner and Mrs. John Hummel were dinner chairmen, and Miss Dora Hunt, Mrs. Denny Pickens, and Mrs. Charles Diehlman were in charge of the dining room.

A commission service will be held next Sunday at 10 a. m. at which time 60 solicitors will be sent out to contact the remaining members of the congregation for their subscriptions for 1937.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to relatives and friends for the sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and at the death of our beloved wife and daughter.

STATE SPONSORS MARKING TO END POULTRY THEFTS

FARGO, N. D. (UP)—A new system of marking flocks of chickens in North Dakota is designed to put an end to chicken stealing.

The plan involves the marking of flocks and recording the mark with the state poultry association and the state department of agriculture.

O. A. Barton, secretary of the poultry association and member of the North Dakota Agricultural College poultry department, explains the plan as follows:

Each producer selects his own method of marking and obtains his own marking equipment. The poultry may be marked by the punches in the web of either foot; by tattoo marks or initials on either wing; by initialed, sealed wing bands on either wing, or by initialed leg bands on either shank.
